A person is shown from the waist down, performing a cable connection exercise. They are wearing a blue sports top and light blue shorts. Their hands are gripping a thick, dark grey cylindrical cable. The cable is held vertically between their feet, which are positioned on a light-colored mat. The background shows a carpeted floor and a doorway. A black and white dog is visible in the background, sitting on the carpet.

A close-up photograph of a person's buttocks. A large, elongated, and highly textured lesion is visible, characterized by a bumpy, almost cauliflower-like surface. The color of the lesion is a mix of pink, red, and brown, suggesting it might be a skin condition like a verruca or a large wart. The surrounding skin is a natural skin tone. The lighting is somewhat dim, highlighting the texture of the lesion.
